

Round Table's 'Combo'

The race to be pizza unique

Specialization is creeping into pizza throughout the tri-valley area as well as the rest of the nation.

Recently, Shakey's and Straw Hat infiltrated the lines of standard pizza fare with their Deli and Deep Dish concoctions. Pizza Hut representatives said they helped start the trend over a year ago with their Thick N' Chewy. Pizza Productions came up with Enzo Pizza.

Some managers of other local pizza parlors have indicated there is a possibility they may strive for unique creations. Research is being kept hush-hush, however. Two managers said their ideas had only reached the planning stage.

Other executives said they weren't going to jump into the competition ring at all.

"We're going to stick with what we have," said Mrs. Chris Stillo of Stillo's Italian Restaurant in Dublin. "We haven't considered coming up with any of those kinds of specialties because we think the quality of our pizza is better than those made at places operating under a franchise. We are happy with what we have."

Dublin's Round Table Pizza Manager, John Ljepava, said, "We won't be involved in that kind of competition as far as I know. We will be concentrating on our current products; try to come up with variations and perhaps add some new items around the first of the year."

"For one thing," Ljepava continued, "our crust does not lend itself to deep dish pizza. Besides, our Combination Pizza with everything on it weighs almost as much as Shakey's Deli and costs less. They claim their Deli weighs four pounds. I believe it sells for $10. Our Combo weighs well over three pounds and only costs $6."

An official in the marketing division of Saga Corporation in Dublin said there was no trend toward pizza specialties the company was aware of. One of the companies Saga represents is Straw Hat Pizza Palaces.

Tina Stenberg, assistant manager of Pizza Productions in Dublin, said they have plans for some exciting, fun things that will be coming up soon in regard to pizza.

"Besides our Enzo Pizza," she said.

All of the pizza parlors surveyed in the Dublin, Pleasanton areas listed from 13 to 19 kinds on their menus. But the customer can usually order any combination of toppings he or she wants. Sometimes they can specify type of crust.

That makes the assortment possibilities almost limitless.

LAVWMA eyes pipe plan

LIVERMORE — A residential capacity - only sewage disposal pipeline could be constructed without a vote of the people if local councils agree to a proposal of the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA).

If the Valley Community Services District board and the city councils of Pleasanton and Livermore agree, the joint powers agreement setting down LAVWMA guidelines would be amended to allow for a bigger waste water disposal pipeline with no industrial reserve.

The current agreement calls for a 13 million - gallons - per - day (mgd) of residential capacity. The proposed amendment calls for a 15.62 mgd line, the capacity needed for a 2 per cent growth rate in the valley for the next 20 years.

Measure U, which voters defeated Nov. 2, would have provided for a 19.72 mgd pipe — 15.62 residential and 4.1 mgd for future industrial users in Livermore and Pleasanton.

If adopted, the 15.62 mgd line would provide for no more industrial growth in Livermore or Pleasanton. Dublin is almost completely built up and has requested no industrial allocation.

LAVWMA attorney Ken Scheidig said he would prepare the papers for each council's approval so the board could mandate the project without further approval if desired.

The board then decided last night not to spend $2,300 for a survey of voters to determine why Measure U was defeated.

Engineers told the board that the pipeline capacity is not necessarily dictated by its size.

The basic 15.62 mgd could be handled by a 27 inch pipe, while a 30 inch pipe is needed for 19.72 mgd capacity. One consultant, however, said 19 mgd can be produced from a 24 inch pipe through the use of booster pumps.

After decade Amador board boss retiring

Wally Decker, president of the Amador Valley Joint High School District board and a Pleasanton and Amador board member a total of 10 years, will not seek reelection in March of 1977 when his present term expires.

Decker told The Times Thursday he made the decision to retire from school board management two years ago.

His position is one of three Amador district board positions up in March. The other two are those of Jack Delaney, the senior member of the board in point of service, and Wayne Barnes, clerk of the board.

Decker was initially appointed to the Pleasanton Joint School District board Oct. 19, 1966 to replace Dr. Ralph Juhl.

He served on the Pleasanton board for slightly more than six years until elected to the Amador board in December of 1972.

Public housing in 2 years if sewer hookups ready

PLEASANTON — Building new public housing for low and moderate income persons will rest on the city's ability to deliver sewer connections when needed, Housing Authority Executive Director Michael Parsons has written Mayor Robert Philcox.

The housing authority is concentrating on replacing Komandorski Village's 169 units and the Komandorski site on Dougherty Road is the most likely location for the replacement, said Parsons. But that's only replacement housing; the housing authority is committed to building 150 units of new housing within the city limits, thanks to a referendum in 1972 which was passed by city voters, he noted.

The housing effort within the city limits will depend almost entirely on where the housing authority can find land with available sewer connections, said Parsons.

Parsons observed that the city and the housing authority could determine the location of units by the "simple allocation and/or reservation of sewer connections for those sites best suited for housing needs."

"If we could be guaranteed the proper number of sewer connections in the Sunol (sewer plant) service area ... the end of 1977 would probably be the very earliest that we would require sewer connections. There upon, building would begin early in 1978 with a completion date before the end of 1978," wrote Parsons.

There has been talk in the community over the years about the merits of spreading the 150 units around the city on relatively small scattered sites instead of putting it in one location. That would take great effort and expense, said Parsons, though the controlling factor for any new housing program will be the sewer connections, he noted.

The housing authority has investigated several sites around the city. These include the Alpha Beta store area near Hopyard Road and Valley Avenue, the park site behind the Safeway store near Santa Rita Road, a location near Black Avenue and Hopyard Road, and a place near the Sports and Recreation Park near Hopyard Road.

The Alpha Beta and Black Avenue sites are owned by Morrison Homes, a developer which is on the city's list for sewer connections. However, the connections don't necessarily accompany those sites, said Parsons.

The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development supports the housing authority's plans for new housing in the city. HUD authorized $3.5 million for the housing a few years ago, only to see the sewer freeze halt the plans.

The election results this month show that a Democratic administration will make some changes in HUD programs and Parsons is not sure what they will be, but he is keeping in close contact with HUD.

The housing authority is mindful of the defeat of Proposition U which would have given funds to build a wastewater pipeline out of the valley. The wastewater pipeline is important because it will enable VCSD to take more sewer connections and that may be the only way the future housing at Komandorski Village can be handled.

Komandorski Village sewers to the VCSD plant now, but the VCSD board in the past has insisted on calling those connections temporary because the housing itself is temporary World War II construction, never intended as "permanent" structures.

Time capsule entombed

Pleasanton Mayor Bob Philcox (left) and Brad Hirst lowered the Bicentennial Time Capsule into its grave Wednesday night at Century House. Contents of the capsule were gathered by Pleasanton's Bicentennial Committee, augmented by a student council group from Amador Valley High School.

The time capsule will be unearthed on the nation's Tricentennial in 2076. Rev. Robert Vogt of the Presbyterian Church gave a stirring invocation before the burial. Ceremonies were held later for Bicentennial Commission workers.

VMH can afford new hospital

LIVERMORE — Valley Memorial Hospital directors have decided they'll probably be able to afford to build that hoped - for new medical center in Pleasanton, and improve the local hospital besides.

At Wednesday night's VMH board meeting, finance committee head Joe Sladky showed his colleagues a five - year plan that held encouraging news. If VMH can continue making a $50,000 surplus each month, they will be able to build a bigger, more centralized hospital in the Valley and at the same time carry out capital projects like: installing a sophisticated X - ray scanner for $83,000 (1977); building a new intensive care and coronary care unit for half a million dollars (1977); revamp the Livermore hospital's outpatient surgery and clinics at $780,000 (1977/8); buy a Livermore convalescent hospital to extend VMH's bed capacity until the new hospital is built (1977/8); and make payments on the Pleasanton and Livermore mortgages.

"We're going to have to front up $5 to $6 million to get from here to there," Sladky said. "But indeed it is not a pipe dream."

When the medical center is in operation — which will be no earlier than 1981 — the VMH corporation will be worth some $26 million, according to Sladky's estimate, and "VMH will be in first - class operating condition," complementing the work of a $15 million medical center on the other side of the Valley.

Although VMH has acquired a hospital site off Santa Rita Road, Pleasanton, building the medical center there is not yet a foregone conclusion. The San - Am Hospital Association is also competing for permission to build a hospital in the west end of the Valley to serve not only Pleasanton - Dublin residents but those in the area of San Ramon and Danville.

San Ramon teen pleads innocent

OAKLAND — David Barker, the 16-year-old San Ramon youth charged in the Aug. 23 shooting deaths of three Dublin residents, yesterday pleaded not guilty to first-degree murder charges in superior court.

Barker and co-defendant Barry Braeseke are charged with shooting to death Barry's parents, Floyd and Barbara Braeseke, and his grandfather, John Braeseke, in their 11418 Betlen Drive home. All three victims had reportedly been shot at close range with a .22-caliber weapon in the family room shortly after dinner Aug. 23.

Braeseke confessed his guilt to the murders in a tape recorded statement to sheriff's deputies the next day. Braeseke said while under the influence of PCP, he agreed to Barker's idea to kill his family for the inheritance.

Judge Alan Lindsay set Jan. 7 at 9 a.m. in Dept. 2 to consider a motion by Barker's attorney, Barry Morris of Oakland, to dismiss charges based on illegal search and seizure.

Morris argues that the sheriff's department went to Barker's home the next day solely on the taped testimony of Braeseke. Since a sheriff's deputy had labelled Braeseke's statement as "one continuous lie" at Barker's arraignment, Morris charges that police did not have probable cause to effect a search.

Judge Lindsay set Jan. 12 at 9 a.m. in Dept. 2 as the date to consider a motion to suppress evidence gathered by the prosecution.

Braeseke will return to Judge Lindsay's court Dec. 10 at 10:30 a.m. to set a date for trial. Both sides expect the cases to be joined together.

San Ramon asked to fight unification

A cautious approach was taken Monday night by the San Ramon Valley Unified School District Board in regard to joining the Acalanes and Mt. Diablo school districts in a legal suit against the formation of the Walnut Creek Unified School District.

"There's no question we don't want that unification to happen. All we're trying to do is take it a step at a time," trustee Ed Best said.

The Acalanes and Mt. Diablo school districts have asked the San Ramon districts to pay 20 per cent of the legal costs to oppose the unification of Walnut Creek schools, while they would each pay 40 per cent.

"I'd like to know what it is they have in mind doing," Best commented. "I'd like to know what our maximum obligation would be."

Superintendent Allan Petersdorf suggested that, "we ask our legal advisors to confer with their firm and work together in opposition to this election."

The Board is concerned because if Walnut Creek forms its own unified school district, the boundaries would extend south as far as Livorna Road and include the Alamo school, according to Petersdorf.

This would mean the San Ramon School District would lose the assessed valuation of that area, plus Rossmore.

"I think it's unnecessary and harmful to our district," Petersdorf stated. "It's somewhat of an ego thing. They want to be known as the Walnut Creek Unified School District."

Currently, Walnut Creek is represented in part by the Acalanes High School District, the San Ramon Unified School District, the Mt. Diablo School District, the Walnut Creek Elementary District, and the Lafayette Elementary District.

A bid last year by Walnut Creek to unify was rejected by the County Board of Education.

This year they are circulating a petition which, with enough signatures, would allow the proponents to bypass the county and go directly to the State Board of Education.

"The state has been quite receptive to unification," Petersdorf said, "and very well might approve it for a vote just in that district. Then we won't have a say."

The State Board of Education decides whether an issue should be voted on only in that territory or by everyone who is affected by it.

It was agreed by the Board to contact the State Board of Education member from Orinda, and Don McKinley, previous superintendent of this district, and current Chief Deputy, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State.

Other Board business included an affirmative action report by William Crozier, Personnel Director for the District, which stated that except for women in administrative positions, and blacks overall, the district is right on target.

"We have made gains, but we still have a ways to go," Crozier stated.

It was announced by Petersdorf that red cards, vandalism prevention notices, have been distributed to homes looking onto school property. The cards ask for assistance if these neighbors should spot anyone on the school grounds doing a variety of prohibited activities listed on the card. It is emphasized on the card that people need not give their names when reporting a suspicious circumstance.

Cal State shows off education

HAYWARD — "From Melting Pot to Salad Bowl," a Bicentennial program about public education, is scheduled for Cal State Hayward Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m.

Organized to depict some of the experiences and contributions of the ethnic groups found in the Bay Area, the various exhibitions will illustrate learning materials and teaching techniques that help children appreciate diverse heritages.

Among the activities are dedication of multi-cultural resources center, demonstrations by university students and professors, exhibits and performances by school pupils and teachers, guided tours of campus learning centers, panels, speakers, dances and skits.

Admission to all activities is free.

Sections of the exhibit include creative writing by children and young people, sections on folk tales and legends, books for children, popular reading and high interest/low vocabulary for all ages, books for young people and adults, human relations and cross-cultural, materials for teachers, librarians, community workers, and parents, and bibliographies of Black, Spanish-speaking, Asian-American, Native American.

There will also be exhibits of educational history, ethnic dances, campus tours, a garage sale, and refreshments.

Early Murray pupils skilled

While Murray School District second and third graders of 1975-76 did extremely well on reading tests, district sixth graders were below the comparison score band in reading and written expression and barely in the comparison band in spelling and mathematics.

The state tests show where a district's second, third, sixth and 12th graders are in comparison with all others in the state.

Les Schmidt, Murray curriculum coordinator, told school board member Monday that certain background factors are used to determine the comparison or expectancy band—the range in which the district students should fall on a particular test.

The percentile ranking incorporates no pre-set criteria but simply shows how the mean scores of a district's second, third, sixth and 12th graders matchup in relation to students in the same grades throughout the state.

For example, Murray second graders were at the 89th percentile on reading tests. That means they scored better than 89 per cent of all other second graders taking the test in the state.

Third graders were at the 85th percentile on reading tests taken last year.

Among the criteria or background factors used to determine the comparison or expectancy band are (reading test) entry level test, socioeconomic index, per cent bilingual, and pupil mobility. During explanation of background factors used, Superintendent Donald Williams pointed out that the district's "Expenditures per unit of average daily attendance ($1,028) puts Murray at the 40th percentile." He also noted that the "Assessed valuation per unit of ADA ($16,172) places the district at the 16th percentile. Williams used these points to illustrate his contention that Murray is a low wealth district.

In other business, trustees learned that business manager Phil Chubb had scheduled a meeting with Paul Ryan to discuss the Dublin School winning pool on Vamac Road.

A review of the 1975-76 audit was set for the next meeting, board members authorized business office aide Anna Stutler to sign for petty cash during Chubb's absence, further information on hot food services from the Pleasanton district was mulled and assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing was commended for his role in the recent contract negotiations with teachers.

Trustees also set December 6 as the date to complete review of the Citizens Advisory Committee report on conversion of a school.

Livermore's school test breakdown

LIVERMORE — If you believe the scores, Livermore's leading schools include Granada at the high school level; Mendenhall, Jackson, Smith and Sonoma for sixth grade achievement; Henry, Smith, Sonoma and Arroyo Mocho in the primary grades.

The scores just released by the Livermore Unified School District are the results of last spring's state matrix testing, which sampled the skills of students in second, third, sixth and 12th grades.

In second and third grade, the tests measure nothing but reading skills of various kinds. In sixth and 12th grade they measure reading, written expression, spelling and math.

However — as Superintendent of Schools Leo Croce points out — the tests don't measure a vast area of school learning, including history, social studies, science, vocational arts, music, art and more subtle skills like problem-solving and attitude.

Also, experts notice a direct correlation between parents' social and financial standing — how well educated they are, how much money they make — and their children's scores.

In Livermore, the lowest income schools, Portola and Fifth Street, were also the ones with the lowest scores.

Teachers and administrators plan to look at a breakdown of the test results to diagnose their schools' strengths and weaknesses. Individual children's scores are not available.

Here are the school-by-school results:

High schools: in order of reading, written expression, spelling and math: GRANADA, 82, 82, 75, 84; LIVERMORE, 72, 70, 59, 84.

Sixth grade: same order as above: ALMOND, 58, 64,

69, 69. CHRISTENSEN: 48, 48, 39, 41. FIFTH STREET: 50, 29, 63, 45. JACKSON: 88, 87, 79, 79. MARYLIN: 49, 51, 34, 19. MICHELL: 81, 59, 54, 61. PORTOLA: 44, 46, 27, 42. RINCON: 37, 51, 52, 52. SMITH: 84, 75, 56, 91. SONOMA: 76, 84, 93, 79. JUNCTION: 50, 34, 61, 46. MENDENHALL: 87, 86, 87, 88.

Second and third grades: First figure is for second grade reading score, second figure is for third grade.

ALMOND: 67, 68. ARROYO MOCHO: 82, 82. ARROYO SECO: 57, 71. CHRISTENSEN: 63 (third grade only). FIFTH ST.: 38, 33. GREEN: 78 (second grade only). HENRY: 93, 89. JACKSON: 68, 71. MARYLIN: 38, 66. MICHELL: 47, 57.

PORTOLA: 33, 40. RINCON: 90 (second grade only). RINCON: 51, 56. SMITH: 83, 73. SONOMA: 72, 84.

The scores are expressed in "percentile" ranks, with a rank of 50 putting that school at the "average" mark of all California school districts in achievement in those subjects.

A percentile ranking below 50 puts the school below average, while an above-50 rank shows an above-average achievement.

The district's average percentile rank, taking all the schools together, was in the high 60's in elementary subjects and 75-89 in high school.

Ecumenical Thanksgiving

The Valley Covenant Ministry Council will sponsor ecumenical Thanksgiving services in two valley communities this year and there will be fasting and special offerings for the hungry of our world.

In Livermore, the Thanksgiving ecumenical service Thanksgiving service will be held at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 678 Enos Way at 10 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 25. There will be a special offering of canned foods to benefit the Valley Emergency Fund Center.

On Wednesday, Nov. 24, the evening before most American families will sit down to a sumptuous feast of Thanksgiving, there will be a service with the theme "Rejoice and Give Thanks" in Dublin at Parkway Baptist Church, 7485 Village Parkway, at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited.

Also in the Dublin area, John Knox United Presbyterian Church, 7421 Amarillo Road, will this Sunday, Nov. 21, observe a "Community Day of Fasting and Prayer" with ten other churches in the Valley Covenant Ministry Council at 7 p.m. with a brief service of prayers.

Families are invited to bring a can of food for the Children's Emergency Coordinating Council of Dublin - San Ramon, or a letter to a congressman in support of the "Right to Food" resolution for a Thanksgiving offering of letters at that service. Nearly 300,000 letters helped get Resolution 339 passed by Congress last summer. Now letters are needed to get Congress to act on it.

The Valley Women's Club hosts John Byrd of the Flying Chef shop in Livermore who will demonstrate tarot cards Tuesday, Nov. 23.

The public is welcome to the 9:30 meeting and program at the Livermore Recreation Center. Playschool facilities are available for children aged two months to six years for all activities. Reservations must be made with Mitze Kashiwamura at 447-6962 before 2 p.m. Monday prior to the meeting. For information contact Karen Taylor at 443-7385.

Radio Klub

Livermore's Amateur Radio Klub will meet a week earlier than scheduled in the Public Library at 9 a.m. Nov. 20. Members and guests are encouraged to bring gear they would like to swap or sell, along with projects they may be working on.

Epsilon

The new slate of officers for Epsilon Chapter of Phi Epsilon Phi sorority includes Mrs. Richard Lawrence of Livermore, president; Mrs. Lee Dix, vice-president; Mrs. Glenn Pezola, treasurer; Mrs. Duane Stuker, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Andrew Wilson III, recording secretary.

History

In recognition of the bi-centennial year, Boyce Van Osdel will address the Alameda County Historical Society Tuesday, Nov. 30 on the theme, "Birthday Parties are for Kids." Dr. Van Osdel received his doctor of divinity degree from the University of Redlands and has served as minister of churches in Southern California and Washington. He is present minister at the Oakland First Baptist Church. The meeting is set at Spenger's Fish Grotto in Berkeley at 6:30 p.m.

Soccer dance

The "Sideline Shuffle," a benefit dance for the Livermore Soccer Club swings Saturday, Nov. 20 at the Exhibition Hall of the Alameda County Fairgrounds in Pleasanton. Live music from 8 p.m. will be provided by the rock band "Good Feelin'." Tickets, available at the door, are $4 per person.

Good turn day

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts in the valley's fifteen troops will collect the Good Turn bags recently distributed on behalf of the Salvation Army and Goodwill Industries Saturday, Nov. 20.

Good Turn bags may be filled with small appliances, toys, clothing which will then be refurbished by the handicapped and disadvantaged persons employed by those agencies. For collection of items too large for the bags, call the Salvation Army at 447-2666 or Goodwill Industries at 447-0626 for pick-up.

V.F.W.

Livermore Valley V.F.W. Auxiliary opens the Christmas season with a luncheon Saturday, Dec. 4 at the Livermore Holiday Inn.

Members are requested to make reservations before Dec. 1 through Millie Turner at 447-9390. The 1 p.m. luncheon and gift exchange follow a social period at 12:30.

Each Christmas season, the auxiliary contributes funds to the Livermore Veterans Administration Hospital, the National Home for V.F.W. Orphans, and cancer research.

VIP's

The Pleasanton VIP's Senior Citizen Club will hold a social meeting on Nov. 22 at noon in the Veterans Building.

Jack Kohn, noted local pianist, will perform, and the refreshment committee will serve pumpkin pleasures. A bag lunch may also be brought.

Those interested in attending a ham buffet at the Sunol Country Club may pick up free tickets at the meeting. The nominating board will also announce nominations for officers. Itineraries for a proposed February trip to Palm Springs and India for the Date Festival will also be passed out.

Prospective members for the club are always welcome.

Emblem Club

For a fun-filled day on Nov. 20, take your family to the Livermore - Pleasanton Emblem Club's Boutique, where home-baked goods, plants, children's toys and much more will be sold.

Located at the Elks Lodge, 940 Larkspur Drive, the Boutique will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. A snack bar will be open all day and a family dinner will be served at 6:30.

Make a bid for charity

A bicentennial quilt illustrating the 50 states in hand-embroidery will be the focus of attention at the annual holiday silent auction sponsored Saturday, Nov. 20 by the Methodist Women of Lynwood Methodist Church in Pleasanton. Among church members of all ages who contributed stitches to the queen-size quilt were Marilyn Collier, Sandra Cotter, Kay Frapwell, Carolyn DeVore and Norma Gibbons. Other offerings at the auction set from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. will be gingerbread houses, bottle dolls, jute baskets, knitted stoles and ornaments. Admission is $1.50 at the door for dessert, coffee and opportunity to bid.

Veterans

The 23rd annual Turkey, Ham and Bacon Bingo Party will get underway at 8 p.m. Nov. 20 at the Veterans Memorial Building on Pleasanton's Main St.

Hosted by the Pleasanton Veterans, the evening of fun is open to adults only.

Bazaar

The Christmas bazaar sponsored by members of the Pleasanton Hacienda Mobile Home Park will encore Nov. 19, 20 and 21 at the clubhouse, 3231 Vineyard Ave.

Twenty skilled artisans will offer tole paintings, baker's clay, ceramics, crochet and knit items, macrame and other items. Hours are Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As was done last year, the sponsors will donate a portion of the proceeds to the Garnet - Austin Work Center for the handicapped of the valley.

Eagles Lodge

The Livermore Aerie of Eagles No. 609 announced this week that it will formulate an Eagle CB Club in keeping with the other 1800 Eagles Lodges throughout the nation.

An informal meeting will be held at 7 a.m. Nov. 28 in the Eagles Hall, 527 N. Livermore Ave.

Juniors

Constructive information on preparing and preserving food safely will be presented by Kristi Smith, affiliated with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, at the Dec. 1 meeting of the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club. The 1 p.m. meeting will be held in Pleasanton's Century House, located at 2401 Santa Rita Road.

For further information contact Lana Dudgeon at 846-1996.

Girl Scouts

Due to a lack of adult leadership, there are long waiting lists of girls anxious to join the Girl Scouts. The Livermore - Amador Valley Assoc. Girl Scouts has issued a request for both male and female adults to provide supportive services for more programs.

Adults interested in developing stronger relationships between the Girl Scouts and the community, or in acting as sponsorship chairmen are also needed. Training is available for most positions.

For those interested in sharing their talents with the Girl Scouts call the Girl Scout Cabin Tuesday mornings or the Volunteer Bureau from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays at 462-3570.

Newcomers

Bargain hunting Newcomers in Livermore should plan on going with the club to San Jose Nov. 19 for lunch and holiday craft shopping. Call Linda Marino at 443-4547 for more information.

If cooking is more to your taste, let Linda Fitzgerald show you how to make "do-ahead" specials at her home, 639 Pelican Ct. at 10 a.m. Nov. 19. Call Linda at 443-0358 or Edith Strong at 443-5577 if you would like to attend.

NATIONAL FARM-CITY WEEK, NOV. 19-25

FARM AND CITY

PARTNERS IN PROGRESS
A DECLARATION OF INTERDEPENDENCE

Farm and City

There has been no proclamation coming forth from any of our City Halls; and even the local and county Farm Bureaus had difficulty in "tracking this thing down."

Notwithstanding all that, we still believe "National Farm - City Week" is a good idea. We even like the slogans attached to that piece of art — "Partners in Progress — A Declaration of Interdependence."

No one is quite sure where that piece of art came from, either. Frankly, right now we can't be certain there really is a "National Farm - City Week, Nov. 19 - 25."

If there isn't, then somebody should start one, issue the proclamation, crank up the printing presses. At a time when prime ranch land and growing acres are being attacked by developers, park promoters and tax collectors, it would seem opportune to rise to the defense of that industry. Particularly in this state. And in this county.

No one should know that better than the city dwellers, those of us who need the food, and enjoy those lovely uncluttered acres.

"A Declaration of Interdependence." It's a nice theme. It would make a terrific campaign ... while there's still time.

Schools in crisis

The people who staff our classrooms, those who administrate the system and those who represent our interests in education are on a collision course these days.

Recent state legislation would allow classroom personnel a bargaining right new to public education. It is an experience for which school superintendents, school board trustees and even the teachers themselves have little or no experience. Neither do any of them come particularly well equipped to handle such "mediation."

This newspaper has refrained from offering much "editorial comment" on the recent teacher contract negotiations, simply because we have felt the situation would not be served by adding our two cents to an already muddy pot. We have however offered extensive coverage of those contract talks, particularly in the communities of Pleasanton and Dublin where the action has been hot and heavy.

(That our coverage has also been fair and thorough is a tribute offered by both sides in those talks, and it is a commendation we accept with gratitude on behalf of our news staff.)

Once these initial talks are completed, once the concerned parties have come to some mutual understanding, there must be incentive to educate the public — the taxpayer and the parent — on the meaning and the problem of these new negotiating procedures.

Too often those locked within education's closet are content to emerge from that cell only long enough to tell us of their troubles, or their need, and then slip quickly back into that retreat once the problem has passed.

The Times would like to suggest that school boards and teacher unions join in establishing forums whereby the process and the problem of contract negotiation could be shared with the press and the public. The opportunity for such a forum is best when there is no crisis, no heated debate, but rather a mood of mature acceptance of the difficult job ahead for those who run our schools, and those who must pay the bill.

Rationing the water

The suggestion coming out of a Zone 7 meeting that Valley consumers be limited to "every other day" use of water for lawns and gardens is at least worth a study.

Whether that form of rationing would work, or some other system might be better, is secondary to the need for convincing all residents within this basin of the declining supply of fresh water. The responsibility to make intelligent use of water is no less here than it is throughout much of our nation, and our world.

"Water conservation" is a campaign we must all join. The Zone 7 Water Conservation District seems like an excellent point from which to start.

FOCUS/Hearing process

Teacher tenure

Possibly the most sensitive area of school - community relations is one dealing with the competency of teachers and administrators. While some segments of the public have made increasing assaults on tenure law, the issue is much more complex.

Not only must there be a clause whereby the public may institute proceedings against a teacher or administrator they feel is not performing to standard, but there must also be machinery to insure a fair appeal procedure and hearing.

At present, three school districts in the valley are involved in what generally is referred to as "personnel matters." The Livermore Valley Unified School District matter concerns an administrator, the Amador Valley Joint High School district case a teacher of choral music and the San Ramon Valley Unified matter a teacher as yet to be identified.

Of the three, the Amador case is well along, a hearing on dismissal charges having started in late August.

For those who might claim it is near impossible "to get rid of" a teacher they feel should be fired, the process for determining whether a certificated employee should be ousted continues through at least three levels of appeal.

In short, a district cannot take the testimony of possible "enemies" of the teacher, call the teacher into the superintendent's office and dismiss him or her summarily. The days of the "Kangaroo Court" in education have long since passed, if in fact they ever existed.

Typically, a list of complaints or charges is compiled by the supervisor (usually the principal), gone over with the teacher involved and then sent on to the district office. If the district personnel officer believes there is foundation for further action, the "evidence" will be taken to the school board and the trustees determine whether an "intent to dismiss" is issued.

If charges are leveled, the teacher is notified and given 30 days in which to respond. Since most certificated employees do respond, a hearing is scheduled with a panel consisting of one person selected by the teacher, one by the administration and a hearing officer.

Depending on the depth of testimony, the hearing may last for months — tied also to the availability of a hearing officer.

When a decision is rendered the accused may appeal. Even if a subsequent hearing determines the teacher liable for the charges, he or she may take legal action, and hire private counsel.

No, it is not easy to dismiss a teacher who may be incompetent. But it is conversely not difficult to compile charges, real or imagined, against a certificated employee who consistently is unable to communicate with students and peers effectively.

Letters to the Times

Teacher logic

Editor, The Times:

The logic of today's (Nov. 17) letter from the dissatisfied local teachers bothers me because they go directly from concern about "... fair treatment ..." to "The school board has repeatedly refused to budge on their position concerning binding arbitration."

This is a simple case of "What is mine is mine, and what is yours is negotiable." I feel the school board should assure the negotiations are a two way street by making demands of its own. This should include requirements for quality teaching. Also boards should have the ability, now held by the State, to grant or abolish tenure.

Murray woman

Editor, The Times:

As editor of the Murray School PTA's newsletter, the "Grapevine," I felt I must write to thank you and to make a correction.

First, thank you for publishing articles from the Grapevine you feel would be of interest to others.

Secondly, in the interest of accurate journalism, the headline over the letter from Sydney Blanks in Lesotho, (Nov. 16, pg. 3) should read "Missive from a Murray Woman."

Thank you for letting me set the record straight.

EARL WATERS

Tunney's move

Although defeated in his bid for reelection Senator John V. Tunney has the chance to go down like a champion. Being the son of a great heavyweight champion who retired gracefully from the ring, it should be an easy thing for Tunney to go out in style.

Tunney has it within his power to perform one last service for the state. That would be the statesmanlike act of resigning before his term ends in January.

This would cost him little, the loss of a few days pay, but could be of great benefit to the state; for it might give Senator-elect S.I. Hayakawa an important seniority edge over the other newly elected U.S. Senators, and seniority in the nation's mightiest legislative body is no small matter.

Tunney should bear no grudge against Hayakawa. It was a fair fight and Tunney lost more because of his own failures and misjudgments of the voter mood, especially on the farm labor issue, than anything Hayakawa did.

But even if the defeat does rankle, Tunney can now show real class by putting that aside in the interest of what is now best for the people of his state.

One does not have to reach too far back in the state's history to find precedent for such magnanimous action. This was done by Senator Sheridan Downey back in 1950. Downey had been elected to the Senate in 1938 and had opted to retire. Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas was nominated to succeed him. She was opposed by Richard Nixon who had been elected to Congress two years earlier. It was a Republican year which saw Earl Warren elected to an unprecedented third term as governor. Although Nixon received no help from Warren he defeated Douglas easily.

But he topped that by stating his belief that Nixon was there to discuss with him "the many problems of our state about which he will be calling me daily." That was too much for Nixon who promptly retorted "Or vice versa." Warren bristling red, snapped "What?" whereupon Nixon repeated "I said or vice versa." It was a standoff. The press conference adjourned almost immediately thereafter.

First Lady - elect Rosalynn Carter
Plains, Georgia
(or try the White House)

Dear Ms. Carter:
I just wanted you to know what you've done for husbands clear across America with your decision to wear your 1971 formal at the president's inaugural ball.

Oh sure, the fashion experts are upset. And I can bet the dress makers are screaming mad ... especially those that turn out those Paris designs at $1000 per copy.

But don't you pay them no never - mind, Ms. Carter. And tell your husband not to take any calls from the garment unions, or George Meany or anybody else who figures America's first family is not their captive, after all.

I want you to know you did wonders for my economy! And for every husband's pocketbook from Plains to Palm Springs. I don't guess you realize just how many balls, charity events, coming - outs and going - ons there are on this season's calendar. Just the other day I was discussing that very subject with the little lady who shares my abode, and my budget.

"Why do you keep staring at the calendar that way," she asks.

"Because I want to know just how deep into debt we're going to be by the time you get through the annual Christmas parties, the New Year's Dance, Mardi Gras and a family wedding or two," says I. It's no secret, Ms. Carter, that an American woman can't dare wear the same gown at two events, in the same season, and exposed to roughly the same people.

"Well," the lady says, "I want you to know I plan to wear last year's dress to the Christmas ball, I'll have my wedding dress altered for the New Year's dance, and I can always get my graduation gown let out for the New Year's Eve formal affair."

And what miracle brought all this about?

"If Rosalynn Carter can wear the same dress to the president's inaugural that she wore in his inauguration as governor of Georgia, then I guess I can make do for a few silly local gatherings." That's what she said!

And it's all because of you, dear Ms. Carter. That and your husband's pledge for "a presidency all poor people can identify with." I'm not certain just how poor he had in mind, and I don't figure we could afford the trip to D.C. in any case, but if we could you can bet we'd be there for his inaugural ... me in my 1957 double - breasted stripe, and she in that frilly job that runs just half - way between knee and ankle.

"I've always liked that on you," I like to tell my lady. "Yes," she replies, "and you've been saying that same thing for the last 20 years."

It used to be a moment of high tension. Big argument about money, household budget, that kind of thing. But not anymore, dear Ms. Carter. Not now that you've set a new trend for all American women ... "bring me your tired dresses, your fashions weary from years of toil." Ah yes, I can see a Carter creed shaping up for these next four years ... "Lower your expectations, and your hemlines. We are entering the Nearly New Society."

Excuse me a moment, Ms. Carter, my dear lady is slipping out the door and I want to give her a big kiss before she gets away ...

"Where are you going sweetiecoms," says I, "to the Salvation Army Center to do a little Christmas shopping?"

"No," she says, "I am going to I. Magnin to check out their new Spring line in high fashion."

"But sweetie," says I, "why should you be checking out Magnin's high fashions when you are pledged to wear your old clothes to all upcoming social events, just like Rosalynn Carter says you should?"

"In women's fashions as in politics, buster," says she, "the promises of winter soon melt away with the coming of spring."

Say it isn't so, Ms. Carter. On the other hand, let me dwell for these few innocent moments in the fantasy of American womanhood parading around in last year's fashions, and America's president fashioning some brand new politics.

Buenas Vidas

Editor, The Times:

The Livermore Jaycee Wives Club would like to express its sincere appreciation to the Valley Times for the excellent publicity afforded our recent Community Auction to benefit the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch. Such publicity is vital to the success of this type of community project and we especially thank Jean McKenna of the Club News for her assistance and cooperation.

We also wish to thank radio station KKKQ for their public service announcements on behalf of the Auction.

Another big thank you goes to the ladies of the Pleasanton Jaycee Wives who found time in their busy schedule of activities to help us out by establishing Pleasanton donation points and distributing posters.

And finally, we sincerely thank the many merchants who contributed over $1,100 worth of merchandise for auction. We realize that these businessmen are constantly called upon to support efforts such as ours and we truly appreciate their continued generosity.

All of these people contributed to the success of this project and helped to reaffirm the fact that the success of the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch depends on our caring and support.

Biz news

Stormy reader response was aroused a few years ago when a daring woman newswriter painted a grim picture of business in the Dublin - San Ramon region.

Her front page report was replete with market obituaries and dreary predictions for the future.

The business community, understandably, reacted. Angry callers snapped at the story's author. Sensitive advertisers vowed reprisal by yanking their ads from the news pages.

It was a tense few weeks all around. But as we learned, only the beginning of serious business trends throughout Southern Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

For various reasons, companies have undertaken an exodus in the last six months, leaving glaring holes in the valley's manufacturing makeup.

It started last spring when Hexel of Livermore announced it would pull up stakes, abandoning a large plant that produced snow skis, among other items.

During the summer, Filper Corporation in San Ramon said it was moving to Reno, Nev. There's cheap labor there, said the president of the company employing more than 300. Taxes aren't as severe, either.

Just last week Livermore endured its most disastrous business setbacks to date when three firms were wiped off the map. First Sunshine Greeting Card announced it was following Filper to Reno, presumably for the same financial reasons.

The beleaguered Tri - Valley Cab Co. followed with word that its fleet of taxis was being shut down — period. No move, no new start in another locale. Costs were simply too prohibitive, said owner Dave Rezendes. He called it quits.

Business blight then spread to the computer industry when Livermore Data Systems closed its doors, unable to meet a 70 - employee payroll.

By last weekend the carnage was complete. No one could recall the last time three companies had gone in the can in one week. The cry went up for a New Deal in valley business.

And indeed community and government may have to reassess the policies of the marketplace to prevent further business collapse and migration. But in the meantime, there may be shreds of hope, encouraging signs that this region can reverse the corporate trend.

Most promising is the news that a Concord fashion firm, producing home sewing kits, will transfer operations to a new headquarters on Crow Canyon Road in San Ramon next month. Sunset Design employs 300 people, and new jobs may open up when the shift here is made.

In Livermore, developer Masud Mehran announced two weeks ago that his latest venture, a complex of 10 office buildings at Holmes Street and Cannockan Road will provide 40 new white collar jobs. Sears and Roebuck opens a Pleasanton catalog store this week indicating big business' confidence in the valley market.

Two bowling centers are going up in Dublin, an old one is expanding in Livermore, and an 18-hole golf course is taking shape in San Ramon which speaks well for the region's recreation business.

Investors are still gambling that Dublin, Livermore, Pleasanton and San Ramon can support business. Their confidence should restore faith at the chamber of commerce.

Given the glut of arrivals and departures in the past six months, perhaps what we are seeing is simply marketplace evolution — out with the old, in with the new. Maybe there's no reason to mourn a business lost — as long as the new kids keep coming.

But when the departed include the biggest and oldest names in local business, you wonder.

Even scientists try to improve on evolution.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's whole problem in today's hand is the club suit. He has to win two tricks there and the odds are against him.

As a practical matter and forgetting about singletons and special 5-2 breaks he is sure to succeed if West holds the ace-queen and 10. He is equally sure to fail if East holds the queen.

He can make it if West holds ace-queen or queen-10 provided he guesses which of those two combinations he holds.

West wins the first two tricks with the king and queen of hearts. He leads a third heart to East's ace.

South ruffs and draws trumps with two leads. Then he cashes his ace, king and queen of diamonds just in case some sort of elimination play might develop.

Finally, he leads a club and West plays low. If South had no clues at all he does have one little thing going for him. West did hold the king and queen of hearts. If he also held both ace and queen of clubs he might well have gotten into the bidding.

Hence, it appears to South that his only hope is to find West with both queen and 10 of clubs. He plays the nine from dummy and loses just one club trick.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know if notrump was ever scored at 35 points a trick. The answer is that in the original game as invented by Mike Vanderbilt notrump was scored at that, but with the first law change that five-point nuisance was eliminated and we now have it scored 40-30, etc.

McKeon A's manager

OAKLAND — Jack McKeon joined Charles O. Finley's second-chance club Thursday, being named to manage Finley's talent-depleted Oakland A's next baseball season.

The previous three managers employed by Finley were, like former Kansas City Royals Manager McKeon, men who had been fired from previous American League managing jobs.

Dick Williams had been fired by Boston, Alvin Dark by the A's and the Cleveland Indians, and Chuck Tanner by the Chicago White Sox.

McKeon will take over a club that won World Series in 1972, 1973 and 1974 but has lost virtually all of the star players from those teams. Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace and Bert Campaneris, who became free agents after the 1976 season, signed with other teams this week to join in the exodus which began with pitcher Catfish Hunter's departure in late 1974.

A's captain Sal Bando said he may be signing with another team Friday, and relief pitcher Rollie Fingers also is available as a free agent and sure to leave.

The A's finished second this year under Tanner, the manager who, in a unique deal by Finley, was traded recently to the Pittsburgh Pirates for $100,000 and catcher Manny Sanguillen. Finley stated then, "Managers are a dime a dozen."

McKeon, whose 46th birthday is next Tuesday, managed 18 years in the minor leagues before being named Royals manager in 1973. The Royals finished second to Finley's world champion A's in the Western Division in 1973 and dropped to fifth in 1974. McKeon was fired in July of 1975. McKeon managed the Atlanta Braves' Richmond farm club in the International League this year, and after the league's season ended he was hired by the A's as a special scout.

CV ends Wolves' season

Diablo Valley Athletic League champion Clayton Valley defeated East Bay Athletic League champion San Ramon last night to win the North Coast Section Tri-Valley area girls volleyball championships at California High School.

Final score was 15-9, 16-14. With the victory, Clayton moves on to meet the winner of the Redwood Empire area champion tomorrow at Acalanes High School.

Meanwhile, San Ramon, which reached the finals by downing American, 11-15, 15-12, 15-7, never was in this one.

The CV Eagles' win, for the most part, was attributed to the fact they were just the best ball club. Clayton, 22-1 overall, set up effectively, spiked well and played very good on defense. San Ramon's inability to return a spiked ball on defense contributed to Clayton's scoring.

The Wolves' largest lead came, ironically, on their first service of the opening match.

Kathleen Guthrie and Debbie Lloyd combined serves to take SR to a 3-0 lead.

Clayton, however, came back to tie it at 9-9, before rallying for six straight points and the margin of victory.

The Wolves, down by as much as 14-3 in the second and deciding game, rallied to tie it at 14-14.

Following three broken service shots, the Eagles regained the advantage at 15-14, before Sharon York, who had numerous service points spiked the 16th and final point.

For the Wolves Nancy Kerlinger, Guthrie and Donna Gallagher played extremely well for the Wolves, while Clayton was led by Lynn Harrison, Barb Busick, York, and Christy Mengelson.

Clayton Valley reached the finals by downing Mission San Jose 15-7, 16-14.

Meanwhile, in the third game between San Ramon and American SR broke a 7-7 deadlock, scoring eight straight points, which included nine exchange of serves by both clubs.

In this sequence, the Wolves' Guthrie and Gallagher contributed two and five serves respectively. Gallagher posted the three three points.

American broke a 7-7 tie in the first game, also coming from behind to score eight straight points to win the opening match.

The Eagles' Dianna had seven successive serves from 8-10 to 14-10.

Both San Ramon and American rendered extremely strong defense, because neither could set up effectively. Most spikes went out of bounds.

Braves sign Matthews

ATLANTA — The Atlanta Braves announced Thursday the signing of free agent Gary Matthews for what the hard-hitting outfielder called not the best but "the fairest" offer.

Matthews was selected by the maximum 12 teams in the historic free agent draft earlier this month after he batted .279 with 20 home runs and 84 runs batted in while playing out his option with the San Francisco Giants.

He said "the way people treated me here" convinced him to sign with Atlanta.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Braves owner Ted Turner, toying with a ceremonial cigar, told a news conference that the pact is "for at least five years."

Turney said he told Matthews' agent, Ed Keating, to draw up a contract for "whatever he thought was fair ... and it's so complicated I don't even want to add it up."

Published reports have placed the contract in the $1 million range.

Matthews, 26, said he considered offers from the San Diego Padres and

New York Mets, "but I like Atlanta and I hope to finish up my career here."

He also said he was glad "to get out of the cold on the West Coast" and that he turned down offers from American League teams because "I would have had to learn different pitchers."

Matthews, a right-handed hitter, said he hoped to help former Giants teammate Willie Montanez add some punch to the Braves, who finished last in the NL West last season.

"I don't think they can go any lower than last year," Matthews observed.

Matthews also predicted he will steal 30 bases next season. "I had pretty good success with the Giants," he said, "but I haven't reached my potential."

Turner said he has talked with two other Braves picks in the free agent draft, outfielder Reggie Jackson and third baseman Richie Hebner, but "I don't have anything to say at present."

Kane makes West team

SAN JOSE — After spending three days playing black jack at Lake Tahoe, San Jose State running back Rick Kane will soon begin preparations for the East-West Shrine football game in Palo Alto at year's end.

And after that, it'll be the professional scouts who will be doing all the gambling.

Kane is coming off a "miserable" season on a team that finished 7-4. He rushed for 823 yards, but was injured most of the season. That yardage figure was third on the all-time Spartan single-season rushing mark and combined with his 1144 maeek a year ago, enabled him to break the career mark for an SJS runner.

But the college game is all but behind him with only the Shrine encounter separating Kane from cashing a typically healthy National Football League paycheck.

"I don't much care where I play," said the 6-foot, 190-pound tailback from Amador Valley High School. "I'm ready for new surroundings."

Kane, along with defensive tackle Wilson Fautuina and fullback Lewis Nelson, had just concluded an extended conversation with John Wooten, a Dallas Cowboy scout.

"About a dozen teams have talked to me in person," Kane said, which may lessen the significance of Wooten's visit.

Kane said he hasn't decided whether to hire an agent, practically status quo in today's age of affluent athletes.

"It all depends upon what round I'm drafted in," Kane explained. The 21-year-old Pleasanton native did think he'd be drafted "within the first three rounds."

Kane said his parents, who moved to Concord last year, are just as enthusiastic about their son's future as he is.

"They're really excited," Rick said. "My dad's been to all the games and he's happy I have a shot at the pros."

Rick asserted himself unusually as "100 per cent healthy" and is just waiting around for the Shrine game.

"I had a bad year," he surmised. "And the game may help me in the draft." He added, "It will be fun playing in front of all those people and alongside so many excellent players."

"Yeah, I think I'll play a lot."

Playing a lot. Foreign to Rick Kane during the season, he may finally get his chance.

Johnson standout Warriors top Suns

OAKLAND — Derrek Dickey and George Johnson sprang off the bench to pile up some impressive statistics and lead the Golden State Warriors to a 131-111 romp over the defending Western Conference champion Phoenix Suns before a boisterous gathering of 9,923 last night at the Coliseum Arena.

Dickey was one of three Warriors to score more than 20 points and also grabbed seven rebounds while Johnson had by far his best game of the year, sweeping down nine rebounds and rejecting five Sun shots.

"I felt like I contributed tonight," said Johnson, still not happy with his share of the playing time. But he apparently made an impression on coach Al Attles, who did not appear as eager to complete a trade as he had after several recent Warrior losses.

Rick Barry, his radar doing the job, fired away for 24 points while Phil Smith added 23. Charles Dudley was brilliant as a playmaker, finishing with 11 assists.

Both Golden State and Phoenix played three games in three nights this week and most of the first quarter of play did little to disguise that fact.

Unfortunately, the game happened to be the first of those back-to-backsets.

The Suns, although committing more turnovers, took advantage of the Warriors' lack of teamwork to jump off to a 28-25 lead at the quarter.

Sloppy basketball prevailed into the second period before Westphal, who lit up the scoreboard by turning hustling floor play into wide-open bombs from outside.

But the Warriors crept ahead on the strength of Charles Dudley's eight first-half assists and nine minutes of excellent relief at center by alleged lame duck pivotman Johnson.

The subject of much recent trade talk, Johnson scored on a follow-up hook and banked a jumper from the right of the lane to put Golden State up, 39-38.

That set off a nine-point in-a-row Golden State surge that, in turn, led to a 12-point lead at halftime, thanks to some timely shooting by Barry and Smith.

The Warriors face the struggling Los Angeles Lakers at the Forum tonight before returning home to face Buffalo tomorrow evening.

Williams optimistic Mat girls aim for title

Granada High School cross-country coach Don Brieme has confidence that his girls' varsity team will do well at the North Coast Section finals in Santa Rosa tomorrow. He also thinks his ace runner Arlene Daley has a fine chance of finishing with the top runners.

But Cheri Williams of Livermore High School thinks she'll be a factor in the girls' race, too.

"I think I have a fairly good chance of finishing among the top five runners," the blonde runner said. "I took fourth at the valley meet last week but was just six seconds behind the second place finisher. If the course had been straighter I might have finished second."

Williams has been beaten twice by Daley this year.

However, the first time they raced Cheri had a strained ligament and the second time (at the East Bay Athletic League meet) Williams misjudged the course run.

Daley didn't run in the valley division meet last week as she competed in the EBAL swimming championships so Cheri was the top EBAL finisher with a 11:56 time over two miles.

"Arlene runs on mostly endurance," Williams remarked. "I have a little of both endurance and speed."

Laura Craig of Berkeley has the fastest qualifying time but Williams also has respect for South division champion Michele Stevenson of Castro Valley.

"She's beaten me twice already," Williams said about the Castro Valley runner. "But I have a new strategy for this race. I'm not going to tell anybody what it is," she laughed.

Even with this new strategy Williams should have a battle on her hands with Daley and some of the other top runners. Arlene won the EBAL meet easily and Brieme expects her to do very well at the section meet.

"I think she will beat Williams," he said without hesitation.

Besides the top individual battles Granada should finish among the top five teams in the varsity race. The Matadors took third last week without Arlene and probably could have won the meet if she had competed.

"There are some tough teams and runners across the bay," Brieme admitted.

ted. "But we should do well."

The other members of the Granada team include Arlene's sister Karen, Kathy Honour, Kathy Lyons, Colleen McElroy and Maria Anaya.

San Ramon should be the EBAL's top choice for team honors in the boys' varsity competition. The Wolves took third in the valley division meet with 134 points. However, Pleasant Hill won easily with 64 and Miramonte was second with 114. On top of this the top two teams in the section are probably Redwood of Marin County and Piner of Santa Rosa. San Ramon is also hampered because second-ranked runner Jason Preece is nursing an ankle injury.

Redwood, sparked by state track meet veteran Rod Berry, edged Piner, 46-50 in the Redwood Empire finals last week. Berry clocked a brilliant 14:30 over the three-mile course for first. Aran Collier of Tamalpais was second in that meet with a 14:42. No other runner in the section broke 15 minutes last week.

Julie Hayes of Dublin took second in the girls' frosh-soph race last week and stands a chance to finish among the top five at Santa Rosa.

San Ramon won the girls' frosh-soph meet last week and should be a contender for the title tomorrow. Lori Allio of the Wolves took fifth to qualify for the meet.

The meet will be held at Spring Lake in Howarth Park. The girls' frosh-soph race will open the competition at 10 a.m.

Introducing: A New Wine And An Old French Custom.

Nouveau

This November 15th Sebastiani Vineyards bottled its 1976 Nouveau Gamay Beaujolais. Your favorite gourmet restaurant and wine shop will be featuring this wine soon. Please ask for it so that you too can share in this Sebastiani family wine making innovation.

We were inspired by the French custom of consuming Gamay Beaujolais in the year of its harvest. If the Nouveau Gamay Beaujolais is good, the harvest can be judged a success. 1976 was a very good year for California wines.

Mats face Pinole

Granada High School, less than impressive in its last two East Bay Athletic League starts, will be looking for its first decisive win in three weeks when it opens the North Coast Section AAAA football play-offs against Pinole Valley tonight at 8 p.m. in the Livermore High School Stadium.

The Matadors, who barely snuck by Foothill, 14-13, and then lost sole possession of first place with a 6-3 loss to Livermore, will be seeking revenge for last year's 23-6 win in the AAAA finals.

But the wild-card Mats have another score to settle — with Livermore. And every last player on the Granada varsity is hoping both Livermore schools will emerge intact from their play-off openers (the Cowboys travel to Tak Fudenna Stadium in Fremont to play Washington) to set up a return match.

Earlier this week, Spartan coach Jerry Deuker pointed to stopping Matador running back Vance Rushing as the key to a win over the Mats and he's quite possibly correct. Rushing gained 49 yards in the Foothill squeaker, but Granada brought Kurt Honodel in for a clutch 103 yards to pull that one out.

Last Saturday, Rushing upped his total to 88, still his third fewest of the season. Backed up by only 10 yards from sophomore Gary Bannister, that figure lacked enough punch to get the Mats a touchdown.

Deuker also expects the Mats to pass. But against Livermore, the Mats passed for just 30 yards after failing to complete a pass against Foothill.

However, that doesn't mean one should count out the Granada passing game.

After a one-yard passing performance in their 14-13 loss to San Ramon in the EBAL opener, the Matadors installed a drop back passing attack that was good for 143 yards against Amador Valley. One can almost be sure Don Couch and his assistants have cooked something up to remedy the Mats lack of diversity.

Pinole, meanwhile, has lost only twice this season. The first was a 22-21 thriller at the hands of Reno, Nevada's top-rated eleven. The next, two weeks later, was a 13-7 defeat to Vintage in the final 30 seconds.

Last Friday, they tied Berkeley to remain undefeated in Richmond-Berkeley Athletic League play.

Quarterback Mark Dent throws medium length passes and racked up 928 yards on the season. His targets are flanker Brad Anderson, 624 yards on 35 catches, and split end Kirk Rinne, 230 yards on 17 grabs.

Despite all the aerial talent, Deuker says he never goes into a game with the intention of throwing. Why?

Otis Smith, that's why. Moved from fullback, where he had done a lackluster job, Smith blossomed at tailback and piled up 699 yards on the year, 160 coming in the season-ending tie with Berkeley that wrapped up the title for Pinole.

No one can question the Spartans heart, either. Faced with a more severe situation even than Granada's 14-10 comeback win over Livermore in 1975, Pinole rallied for two touchdowns in the last two and one-half minutes Friday to tie the Yellowjackets.

They scored first on a pass from Dent to Anderson and capitalized on a Berkeley fumble that gave the ball at the 'Jacket eight on a one-yard burst by Smith.

The winner of the contest will host the AAAA finale, though Granada will be forced to use Livermore's field again if they earn the honor — the NCS doesn't like the Saturday games that lightless Lehigh Stadium forces at Granada.

Pokes face air battle

FREMONT — Although Washington head coach Bob Springer isn't fully admitting it, he'd much rather pass his way over Livermore than try and run against them when the two teams meet tonight.

The football champions of the East Bay and Mission Valley Athletic Leagues vie on Fremont's Tak Fudenna Field in the first round of the North Coast Section 4-A championships. The regionally-broadcast (KKIQ, FM, 101.7) contest gets underway at 8 p.m.

The 'Pokes, tops in the EBAL in defense but lacking superiority in the defensive secondary at times, may pose an enticing target for Washington quarterback Mike Ricupito, who completed his passes at a 61 percent clip this season.

"We'll take advantage of whatever we can in a game," Springer replied when needed about the 'Pokes' secondary. "We don't know how they will react to our team. They might have a real good game against us, we don't know. If we have to, our team will throw against them."

Putting the ball in the air is something the Huskies have been reluctant to do since losing their first two encounters of the season. Ricupito threw over 70 times in those two games.

Ricupito's favorite targets are split end Mike Kane, who caught 43 passes for 420 yards and 12 TD's, and tight end Bill Morones, with 23 catches and 354 yards. The balanced running game is led by backs

John Born (386 yds.) and Bob Fudenna (361 yds.).

The air is probably the only logical route for Springer to follow, though, when faced with the prospect of running up against the EBAL's premier defensive line of Wade Andrade, Gary Tennyson, Tim Palmer and Kevin Fitzpatrick.

Springer hinted an ignorance of the Livermore line, commenting, "Well, I'll tell you, we'd like to stay away from them. Nobody likes to run up against a wall of granite. But if we have to, we'll run right at 'em."

Livermore coach Ron Berg and players foresee a touch-and-go situation with the small but explosive Huskies.

"It's going to be a kind of guessing game," Berg admitted. "We both have very balanced offenses." Berg agreed that Washington's play selection may be hard to pick up, but added, "We hope to present them with the same kind of problem."

Springer dithered Berg's analysis. "We've both got very balanced offenses. They've got a pretty good running game," Springer continued, "I think we're fairly even."

Springer is well aware of Livermore's deadly arm, but says his secondary will be ready. "We'll be ready for him. We geared our secondary for this game. He (Gildea) throws a great ball."

Livermore's offense, led by Gildea, running backs Pat Powles, Steve Culy and Rich Lawson, receivers Ed Moody and Mike West, and tight end Bob Tarte, can choose a variety of ways to strike against the Huskies.

Although small for their size, Washington has been particularly tough against the pass and run. They make up their size disadvantage by speed and aggressiveness, as evidenced by the 18 turnovers and 72 tackles behind the line of scrimmage they have chalked up. The Huskies use an eight-man line.

"They have a good running game," says Livermore's Berg, "but that comes from having an excellent passing game." Berg compares his team and the Huskies to the undefeated Livermore team of 1971 that had deadly passing threats from QB Tim Duffy to receiver Dale Mauldin, which in turn led to a potent ground game that tiny Mike Payne characterized.

About the only common denominator between the Huskies and Cowboys is Granada. Washington played the Mats in pre-season and lost, 20-17. Livermore, of course, beat them 6-3 for the EBAL title. Springer isn't bothered by the fact he's not playing Granada again.

"We were in that ball game until the last minute, I don't care what anybody says," Springer stated. "We made a bad defensive mistake. We let that super-duper-duper running back (Vance Rushing) go ... he made an 85-yard run off of us (for the winning score). So I don't really care who we're playing."

In comparing pre-season schedules, the Huskies lost to powers Granada and Hayward and defeated a respectable team in Moraga. The 'Pokes beat Castro Valley and Lincoln of Stockton (4-4-2 overall finish this season) and lost a one-point game to Manteca (4-2 in the Valley Oak League this year).

In playing at Tak Fudenna, not only do the Huskies have a home advantage, but even the stadium most likely is on their side. Huskie running back Bob Fudenna is the son of the man of which the structure is named after.

The winner of the game meets the winner of the Granada - Pinole Valley contest next Friday evening at a site to be determined. If both Granada and Livermore win, then it's assured the 'Pokes and Mats will be replaying on Livermore's field.

Kolleen Casey's acupuncture treatment.

Acupuncture on Halloween

NOTE: Today's excerpt from Diane Dunbar's journal of her trip to the People's Republic of China is a brief one.

But it includes some of the more interesting highlights of the junket made by Dunbar and her United States gymnastics team mates and more of her pocket camera photos.

The series will continue for the next few issues of the Times.

HALLOWEEN, OCT. 31
Woke up at 8 a.m. because of all the noise outside. Went to breakfast and the eggs were normal. They also had crepes with jelly inside, but I didn't like them.

We went to an industrial exhibition. There were 4000 exhibitions but we only saw about 60 per cent of them. In the morning it is open to just foreign guests and in the afternoon, to the public.

They showed a film of a guy that had acupuncture done to kill the pain while he was having surgery performed on his stomach. He was awake and eating while they were cutting into him — Bart Connors fainted.

There were machines, cars, boat models, huge sewing machines, musical instruments, toys, silk and other materials and fantastic works of art.

We also went on a boat cruise down the Yangtze River.

While we were on the boat, a doctor did acupuncture to a Chinese guy for a sore shoulder caused by a cold. I didn't watch the acupuncture, but afterwards he took a glass and put a piece of burning paper in the glass and put the glass to his back.

It was supposed to suck the cold out of the muscle.

He also did acupuncture to Mel's heel. He put three needles in: one in the heel, one in the leg and one in the ankle. He started the one in the heel on fire to warm the nerves. Mel has to have this done nine more times.

Carrie and Kolleen might have it done to their backs before we leave Shanghai.

Came back from the boat ride and had about one hour off before going to the gym. It is a huge stadium that seats 18,000 people. There are dorms near the stadium.

Bars and Beam is good. FX is kind of royer, but harder. Wooden board. Kathy twisted her knee, so she will not exhibit tomorrow and might not compete Tuesday. We worked out from 7-9.

Scot, Mel, Linda and Art dressed up for Halloween and came to all the doors on our floor. They were a riot. Mel was a guy with a big nose and ears and dressed weird.

Linda was a cat, Scot was a hip old man and Art was a lady.

That ended our night.

—by Diane Dunbar

It's Halloween for gymnasts.

Dirty Dozen wins

The Dirty Dozen, led by Maureen Wroblewski, Cathy Merrill and Lonni Warner tallied off in the third game, but took a 15-12, 15-13, 5-15 win over Tri-Valley Brokers in Valley Community Services District volleyball at Camp Parks Monday night.

In a tight match, the Sugar and Spikes rallied to dump the Jockettes, 14-16, 15-12, 16-14. Bev Stott led the way for the winners while Merrill Catala played well for the Jockettes.

Swenson's, displaying eight outstanding individuals, stifled Snap-On Tools, 15-8, 15-6, 15-10.

Round Table Pizza recorded a rare shutout in game three to gain a 15-3, 14-16, 15-0 win over the Silly Servers. Round Table's

Bikeathon prize puzzles winner on locomotion

LIVERMORE — He can't reach the pedals of his gleaming new red 10-speed, but Chris Faltings doesn't mind.

The bike was top prize in a Diabetes Association fundraiser, the 1976 McDonald's Bike Ride Against Diabetes, and Chris won it by turning in more than $200 to the association after an Oct. 3 bikeathon.

Chris's grandpa, Ray Faltings, who also rode in the bike trip, lifted a grinning Chris into the seat of the Windsor bike. But his legs dangled helplessly above the pedals. What he'll do with the prize is still a mystery.

Chris had 75 sponsors for his bike ride — including one very generous one, his grandmother. He claimed his prize Wednesday, on his eighth birthday, at a party hosted by McDonald's community representative Jan Pfeiffer.

Chris is one of a number of diabetic children who rode in the fundraiser. The 83 riders totaled 1,440 sponsored miles.

CC health to continue flu shots next month

Leshner News Bureau

MARTINEZ-Flu shots will continue to be offered free of charge during December by the County Health Department at various drop-in locations.

Persons over 45 will be able to receive bivalent vaccine, which protects both against Victoria and swine flu. A person over 45 who received a swine flu shot at a previous clinic may receive a bivalent immunization if there has been at least a week between shots.

Persons under 45 will continue to receive the monovalent vaccine against swine flu only.

Drop-in clinics are scheduled on Dec. 2 in San Ramon from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Family Health Center, 9260 Alcosta Blvd.; on Dec. 3, in Richmond County Building, 38th and Bissell from 1:30 p.m. to 4:15 p.m.; on Dec. 6 at the Pleasant Hill Hillcrest Congregational Church, 404 Gregory Lane from 1:30 p.m. to 4:15 p.m.; on Dec. 8 at the Pittsburg County Building, 45 Civic Dr. from 1:30 to 4:15 p.m.; on Dec. 16 in Brentwood at 118 Oak Street and from 2 to 4 p.m.; on Dec. 21 at the Concord Armory.

2925 Willow Pass Rd. from 3 to 6 p.m.

Flu shots will also be available in the Health Department building during December on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 14 and 21 in Pittsburg, from 1 to 3 p.m. at 45 Civic Dr.; on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 14, and 21 in Richmond County Building, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Room 1603, 38th and Bissell; on Wednesday, Dec. 1, 8, 15, 22 in the Health Department Building, Room 210, 2nd floor, 111 Ward St., Martinez, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.; and on Friday, Dec. 3, 10 and 17 in Concord at the Health Department Building, 2355 Stanwell Circle from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be no clinics after Dec. 22.

The last mass flu clinics in this county will be held this Saturday in Martinez from 11 to 2 p.m. at Las Juntas School on Pacheco Boulevard and at the Richmond Auditorium from 11 to 4 p.m. and then on Sunday in Walnut Creek from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Kaiser Hospital.

School staff changes eyed in Livermore

LIVERMORE — A scattering of staff changes were approved Tuesday night by the Livermore Unified School District board.

Newly hired are: Yvonne Lenbergs to teach the adult school Driving While Intoxicated course; Patsy Beaudoin, Granada High cafeteria assistant; Joann Braun, adult education sheltered workshop aide; Diana Murphy, half-time clerk typist in the district office secondary education department; Jessie Oaks, Joe Mitchell School cafeteria assistant; and Shirley Stevens, teacher aide in the adult English as a Second Language program.

The resignation of Almond School playground supervisor Patricia Fisher was accepted. The board approved Janet Lucille Cook's application for a California General Elementary Life Diploma. She has completed her 48 months' required teaching experience and teaches seventh and eighth grades at Mendenhall Intermediate School.

Alameda board seeking new state tax reforms

SAN DIEGO — The big push for statewide property tax reform via a special session of the State Legislature is being made here by Alameda County's Supervisors and administrators at the 82nd annual convention of the County Supervisors Association of California.

Alameda County's representatives want backing for a Constitutional amendment to make the state pay extra costs when it mandates new or expanded programs in court and criminal justice areas. They also would have the state pay the inflationary costs of courts, probation, welfare, health and open space programs.

Public officials at all levels of government are being threatened with a "taxpayers revolt" because property tax bills have doubled and sometimes tripled in the last two years.

Legislative committees have been holding hearings from Long Beach to Lodi in attempts to garner grass roots input and head off the revolt as homeowners have taken to burning their tax bills rather than pay them. Alameda County Board of Supervisors Chairman Fred Cooper and fellow supervisors Joseph Bort and John Murphy are joined by county administrator Loren Enoch and county counsel Richard Moore in the meeting of more than 1,000 county officials from throughout the state.

Former State Controller and gubernatorial candidate Houston I. Flournoy, currently director of the Center for Public Policy at the University of Southern California, will join Rep. Morris Udall (D-Ariz.) as keynote speakers at the convention.

U.S. Senator Alan Cranston also is scheduled to speak. Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., was invited but not confirmed as a convention speaker.

Conventioners are slated to discuss agricultural land use, solid waste planning, insurance and non-court handling of traffic offenses in addition to property tax reform.

Valley obituary

Catherine McConnell Rose

Catherine McConnell Rose, 89, a native of San Francisco and 60-year Livermore resident, died Wednesday in a local hospital.

She was wife of the late Peter Rose, and is survived by daughters Marie K. Worth and Carmel Cabral, both of Livermore; son William Rose, Alameda; sons-in-law William P. Cabral and Albert Worth, both of Livermore, and daughter-in-law Ruthie Rose of Alameda. She also leaves nine grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren, and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

Recitation of the rosary will be held at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at the chapel of the Callaghan Mortuary, 3833 East Ave., Livermore. Mass will be said at 10 a.m., Monday, in St. Michael's Church, followed by interment in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Hayward.

Border patrol processing time cuts alien arrests

PLEASANTON — Border Patrol arrests are still down from last year, thanks to a recently begun Immigration Service program which requires more officer processing time.

Agents of the Livermore Section, covering Alameda, northern Santa Clara, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Humboldt, Trinity and Del Norte Counties, arrested 159 illegal aliens last month. Three-quarters were working at the time of arrest.

In the Livermore Sector as a whole, covering the 49 counties of Northern California with headquarters at Camp Parks, Pleasanton, agents nailed 4,860 illegal aliens. The total was 355 lower than last year's because of the new government program, according to Chief Patrol Agent Herbert E. Walsh.

The new program requires repatriation of Mexican nationals (who make up most of the illegal aliens) which requires more officer processing time.

Of the 3,966 people arrested, 82 per cent were working, most of them for $2.50 to $4.49 per hour, while 22 were on public assistance.

Mysterious boat mishap stirs search

OAKLAND — Police here still apparently are stumped in their search for former Livermore machinist Leon Gulzow and his girlfriend Jeanne Van Eijk following the bizarre beaching of a 42-foot sailboat Tuesday morning at San Francisco's ocean beach.

Gulzow's and Van Eijk's drivers' licenses were found aboard the ocean-going Blanquita, along with one pound of marijuana, hypodermic needles, some pills and a loaded .38 revolver.

Police still have not ruled out the possibility the two were washed overboard, although the Coast Guard has abandoned its sea search.

The boat was found rigged for ocean cruising with her running lights and engine switched on, but the engine not running.

The boat is registered to Oaklander Robert E. Amos, who on Monday repossessed it from Gulzow in Sausalito. Amos sold the boat to Gulzow three years ago, but when payments reportedly stopped last year, he went after the Blanquita.

Oakland Police Sgt. Charles Dove said Gulzow and Van Eijk helped Amos take their things from the boat Monday when he came to repossess it. But the same items the trio removed were back on board when the boat was found the following day.

Gulzow reportedly had just sailed the Blanquita back from Hawaii where he had "some sort of problem with customs," according to Dove.

He said charges are not being filed locally until his department "knows if the boat was really stolen." After two faithful years of payments, Gulzow has a "possessory interest" in the Blanquita, he said.

Police also contacted Sausalito attorney John Striker after finding a piece of his identification on the boat.

Striker reportedly was handling escrow on the sale of the boat.

Neither Striker nor owner Amos could be reached yesterday for contact.

Meanwhile, the Blanquita, her sails furled and gear neatly stored, was being trucked to Svendsen's Boat Works in Alameda yesterday afternoon.

Youth ranch sale slated

LIVERMORE — Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch will hold a rummage sale Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The ranch, located just passed the Veterans Administration Hospital on Arroyo Road, will use proceeds to renovate buildings for the "Crisis Housing" project.

The sale will offer a wide variety of clothes, household goods, used furniture and other items.
